*Participants are advised to bring snacks, notebook, workout clothes & shoes.

Meals: Group/Organization will provide snacks, lunch and/or dinner for camp (or individuals can pack their own meals). If group/organization would like Cross Training to provide the meals, an extra $7/participant/meal as well as $2/participant/snack will be added. Group/organization must inform Cross Training if they wish Cross Training to provide the meals within 21 days of scheduled date of camp.

Waiver: Cross Training waivers must be filled out and signed by participants and/or guardians prior to start of camp. Individuals will not be allowed to participate if waiver has not been signed. This is taken care of via online registration

Camp Payments and Pricing:

Camp Deposit and final payment: Non-Refundable camp deposit will be issued to secure date of camp. Remaining camp balance will be due 7 days prior to scheduled camp date.

Camp price is based on number of participants. It is up to the group/organization on how they wish to cover the camp cost.

Registration Options: Once Group/Organization registers for camp and pays initial deposit, individual participant registration can be online via Cross Training website or through the Group/Organization hosting the camp. The following are four possible avenues of payment:

1. Completely Covered by Individual Participants- Registration via Cross Training Website:
Group /Organization are responsible for initial camp deposit. Cross Training will provide online registration for the participants on its website. Deposit will be returned to group/organization when camp is paid for.
*If a group registers for a 40 person camp and only 35 athletes register, group/organization will cover the remaining cost of camp. If group/organization registers for a 40 person camp and only acquires 25 registrants, camp price decreases to the 'max of 30' camp price and remaining balance (if any) is covered by group/organization. In the event that this happens, camp price will only decrease to the first level below initial registration. In the event that registration exceeds initial registration level, group/organization has up to 14 days prior to camp date to increase registration level, otherwise camp is considered sold out and extra registrations will be put on a waiting list (group/organization can add a second camp date if available). Online registration on Cross Training's website will reflect number of participants designated by group/organization. An increase in number/registration level will only occur with the consent of the group/organization in charge of hosting camp.
2. It can be partially covered by the group/organization and partially covered by the individual athletes using Cross Training's Registration. Example: For a camp of 20 Kids: Group/organization covers $200 of the camp cost (deposit) and athletes cover $1300 (estimates to $65/ athlete). Online registration on Cross Training's website will be provided and reworked to reflect the cost per athlete.
*If a group registers for a 40 person camp and only 35 athletes register, group/organization will cover the remaining cost of camp. If group/organization registers for a 40 person camp and only acquires 25 registrants, camp price decreases to a max of 30 camp price and remaining balance (if any) is covered by group/organization. In the event that this happens, camp price will only decrease to the first level below initial registration.
In the event that registration exceeds initial registration level, group/organization has up to 14 days prior to camp date to increase registration level, otherwise camp is considered sold out and extra registrations will be put on a waiting list (group/organization can add a second camp date if available). (Online registration on Cross Training's website will reflect number of participants designated by group/organization. An increase in number/registration level will only occur with the consent of the group/organization in charge of hosting camp.)

3. Completely covered by Group/Organization- Registration via Cross Training Website.
Deposit is due day of camp registration. Remaining balance is due 7 days prior to scheduled camp date. Individual registration for camp will be via Cross Training Website.
4. Completely covered by the Group/Organization- Registration via Group/Organization.
Deposit is due day of camp registration. Remaining balance is due 7 days prior to scheduled camp date. Individual registration is taken care of by Group/Organization.

Cancellation Policy: Group/Organization has up to 14 days prior to scheduled camp date to cancel without paying the remaining camp fee. Within 14 days of the camp, group/organization is committed to the payment of the camp corresponding with the number of registrations. If Group/Organization wishes to cancel camp within the 14 days prior to camp date, they are committed to the remaining balance corresponding with a 10 person camp.

Policy varies for groups/organizations registering for 75 people or more.

Date Change: Once the camp is scheduled, if a date change is necessary, the participating body may change the date within 7 days of registration without the date-change fee. The participating body may change the date up to 14 days before the scheduled camp date. A $200 change-date fee will be issued to cover new marketing materials, registration forms, and potential staff changes. (* Date change with-in 14 days will be considered if unforeseen circumstances occur on the part of the group/organization).

Travel Expenses: Group/Organization will cover travel expenses unless camp is held at Cross Training facility.

Camp Payments and Pricing:

Camp Deposit and Final Payment: Non-Refundable camp deposit will be issued to secure date of camp and must be paid within 7 business days of locking in date. Remaining camp balance will be due 7 days prior to scheduled camp date.

*In the event that registration exceeds initial registration level, group/organization has the choice up to 14 days prior to camp date to increase registration level, otherwise camp is considered sold out and extra registrations will be put on a waiting list.

*(Full-Day Only) If the camp does not fill, the following two scenarios describe what will happen: If a group registers for a 40 person camp and only 35 athletes register, group/organization will cover the remaining cost of camp. If group/organization registers for a 40 person camp and only acquires 25 registrants, camp price decreases to a max of 30 camp price and remaining balance (if any) is covered by group/organization. In the event that this happens, camp price will only decrease to the first level below initial registration.

Cancellation Policy: Group/Organization has up to 14 days prior to scheduled camp date to cancel without paying the remaining camp fee. Within 14 days of the camp, group/organization is committed to the payment of the camp corresponding with the number of registrations (unless a date change takes place). If Group/Organization wishes to cancel camp within the 14 days prior to camp date, they are committed to the remaining balance corresponding with a 10 person camp.

Date Change: Once the camp is scheduled, if a date change is necessary, the participating body may change the date within 7 days of registration without the date-change fee. The participating body may change the date up to 14 days before the scheduled camp date. A $200 change-date fee will be issued to cover new marketing materials, registration forms, and potential staff changes. (* Date change with-in 14 days will be considered if unforeseen circumstances occur on the part of the group/organization).

Travel Expenses: Group/Organization will cover travel expenses unless camp is held at Cross Training facility.
